WELCH CONSOLIDATES HIS RETAIL STORES

Interests At Richmond, Berea, Hazard and Harlan Merged Under New Management

John W. Welch, of Berea, is again active in the Madison county retail field. He has not been about Richmond for some time and his friends here now learn that he has been busy consolidating his merchandising interests.

A few days ago he completed a deal taking over a large portion of his former business at Berea and consolidating it with his Hazard and Harlan interests under the name of John W. Welch Company, with the main office at Berea.

Now, on July 2, he has completed a further deal whereby he takes over and absorbs the Richmond Welch Company, and thus combines in the new firm all his mercantile interests in Hazard, Berea, Harlan and Richmond.

Hereafter, Mr. Welch has had his interests in these different towns under separate management and separate corporations. The new company of the John W. Welch Company is not a corporation it is understood, but it is capitalized at $150,000, all paid in.

The several years of past experience has given Mr. Welch certain definite ideas of business methods for retail stores which he has been anxious to put into effect and which up to the present time has not been practical, he says, owing to the lack of uniform management and control, buying power and the presence of different stockholders in the different firms and the complete lack of co-operation of the different enterprises.

Now with one organization and all management and control centralized in one office, these methods can be put into full effect and uniform control exercised. Mr. Welch says that all the stores owned by the new company will be conducted on strictly a cash basis. No book accounts will be used. Cash sales, cash purchases, constitute some of their essential policies.

Mr. Welch states that he really had planned on staying actively out of the merchandise field for at least another year surveying and looking around a little but the time in the other towns seemed advantageous and as the Richmond store required a change in management and a general shaking up at this time, he thought best to complete the reorganization while he was at it.

Mr. Welch further said:

"It is necessary for all retail stores to take their losses as quickly as possible and those who are unable to weather the storm either in capital or management, should be moving on." He added: "Good management and sound operative basis will be more essential during the next year or so in this field than ever before. The worst is passed provided all losses up to date are fully taken. The trouble is a great many retail merchants kid themselves by taking their inventories at the cost and not at replacement values, and are trying to hold the prices so they can get out from under their losses. It can't be done and it is not right. The public is entitled to the new prices and this matter is now an all important one. Quick cash sales, small profits, big turnover, coupled with advantageous cash purchases will be the winner. New managers, not familiar with the past few years, are often times more profitable now in retail stores. We are going to give Madison county just what they are looking for and expecting in our line. We believe in Richmond and Madison county."

Mr. Welch and his family are at present at their summer home at Winona Lake, Ind., but he expects to return and take personal control about September 1st, and the Richmond Welch store will be absorbed and taken over July 20.

As noted in these columns before, Mr. R. H. Embree, formerly with Mr. Welch at Berea, and the Kemmerer Hardware and Furniture Company, of Kemmerer, Wyo., has taken charge of the local management of the Richmond Welch store. Mr. Embree is a Madison county boy, having been born at Berea and is a grandson of John G. Fee, founder of Berea and Berea College.

Mr. Embree has been in the West for several years until his connection at Berea some three years ago; then again in the West until now. His wife and three children accompanied him here and will receive a hearty welcome by all.

RICHMOND WINS FROM WACO AGAIN

Hembree Stars Around the Short Field and Game Is a Real Slugging Fest

Richmond again defeated Waco on the Normal diamond Thursday by a score of 11 to 6. The local team outplayed the Waco aggregation at every phase of the game. Rogers pitched better ball than Metcalf and received better support both in the field and at the bat. The game was indeed, a slugging match as every man on both teams, connected with a safe blow. Oldham and Carter made four hits apiece for the Richmond team. Oldham sent the ball to the distant parts of the field for triples twice and handled seven chances without an error at the keystone sack.

Eleven men on the local squad were put out after reaching first base.

Dykes made an unassisted double killing in the seventh and should have made two hits had not Oldham made a star catch of one of his drives. Oldham took the ball over his shoulder while running hard toward center field. In the fifth inning all the Waco batsmen who found Rogers grounded to Hembree, who relayed the ball to White without a bobble. Hembree was a bear at the shortfield.

The Waco catcher, Brotherton, had his wing working so well that the locals stole only one base.

The local boys are going to give anybody a hard struggle that they run up against and are going to play some pretty strong teams in the future. The score:

ASKS DAMAGES OF MICHIGAN OFFICER

Joe Berman, Normal Student, Sues For $2,615 For False Arrest and Imprisonment

As a result of having wired to the Police Department here to arrest Joe Berman, a Normal student, on the charge of wife and child desertion, when there is no such charge pending against him, suit has been filed in circuit court here against Sheriff George Bridgeman, of Berrien county, Michigan, for $2,615 damages. The grounds on which the damages are sought are false arrest and malicious prosecution, says R. C. Oldham, attorney for Berman.

Service was obtained on Sheriff Bridgeman through Detective S. E. Gribbs, who came here, acting as a deputy sheriff, seeking to take Berman back with him. Berman, upon advice of his attorney, refused to go without extradition papers.

A telegram was received from Bridgeman by Chief of Police Devore to hold Berman as he was wanted for wife and child desertion, which is a felony. Mr. Devore, naturally arrested the young man, who was released on $200 cash bond furnished by F. C. Gentry, business manager of Eastern.

When deputy sheriff Gribbs arrived here, however, it was discovered that it was not wife and child desertion for which Berman was arrested, but merely failure to pay his divorced wife alimony of $10 a week, which is not a felony and for which he could not be arrested and thrown in jail. Berman explains that he got out of work, that he notified his ex-wife's father that he had gone to Kentucky to take a course here and to prepare himself for teaching, and in no way had sought to evade the question. He has been working as night clerk at the Hotel Glynndon since coming here to help his pay his way through Eastern. The young man has the sympathy of many friends here. All he asks, he says, is a chance to make good, and because the authorities in the Michigan counties deceived the local officers into arresting and throwing him into jail, the damage suit was filed against the sheriff there. Berman came here from St. Joe, near Benton Harbor, Michigan. He is a star baseball and football player and all the "boys" are pulling for him to get out of his troubles. He had originally started from his Michigan home to attend Centre College but got shunted off here to Eastern as he figured he could more quickly prepare himself for earning money teaching.

TOBACCO SHOWS 30 PER CENT DECREASE

From Last Year's Crop, According To Kentucky Crop Report Just Out Today

Estimates placing Kentucky's 1921 tobacco crop at approximately 385,000 acres compared to 550,000 acres last year, (or 30 per cent decrease), and the wheat crop at 6,764,000 bushels compared to 5,610,000 bushels last year, are the features of the July crop report for Kentucky, issued today at Louisville and Frankfort by the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates in co-operation with State Commissioner of Agriculture. This is a decrease of 343,000 bushels from the June 1st estimate of the Kentucky wheat crop, due chiefly to poor filling of heads in many sections even though the acreage was nearly 10 per cent more than in 1920.

This month's preliminary estimate of the acreage of corn indicates a crop of about 92,701,000 bushels compared to 100,650,000 bushels last year, while oats are estimated at only 6,565,000 bushels compared to 8,225,000 bushels last year. Many fields of oats in various parts of the state were so short they had to be cut with a mower or be pastured. Rye is estimated at 420,000 bushels compared to 480,000 bushels last year; barley 160,000 bushels compared to 112,000 bushels last year; Irish potatoes 4,458,000 bushels compared to 4,434,000 bushels last year; and sweet potatoes 1,797,000 bushels compared to 1,890,000 bushels last year.

All these 1921 estimates are subject to revision downward or upward as the season progresses, depending on favorable or unfavorable weather and other conditions hereafter. These tobacco and corn estimates are the first of the season, and as planting of both crops was continued very late this year, such estimates may be subject to considerable change either upward or downward before the end of the season.

Hay has been a short crop (in yield per acre) in most counties, though in some places it is good. Much of it is very weedy, especially with white top, the average condition of all hay being only 68 per cent. Pastures generally are only fair. Fruit is irregular, but generally a very short crop. Apples are only about 18 per cent of a full crop, but in the Henderson commercial district they are half a crop or better. Peaches and pears are only 8 per cent of a full crop. Melons generally are in fair condition, though late.

Blue grass seed and hemp are short crops in Kentucky this year though some hemp was planted in place of tobacco. The state's blue grass seed crop is estimated at only 187,500 bushels in chaff, compared to 450,000 bushels last year. Hemp is estimated at about 3,000 acres.

Estimates of the condition and production of various crops, for Madison are: corn 97; potatoes 81; tobacco 82; wheat 70; oats 73.

EVERETT WITT DIES IN GEORGETOWN

News Comes of Passing Away of Former Richmond Man. Highly Respected By All

Though his friends had received no encouraging news from his bedside of Mr. Everett Witt, who had been ill at the hospital at Georgetown for several weeks, the announcement of his death came as a shock Friday afternoon when Dr. Homer W. Carpenter received a wire that he had passed away.

Mr. Witt was born in Estill county, 53 years ago, was the son of Mr. Weldon Witt. He came to Richmond about 30 years ago, and was engaged in business here until his removal to Cynthia in 1910, where he was in the ice business, until he was stricken with acute Bright's disease and although everything that human skill could do, was tried, the disease could not be checked. Mr. Witt was a splendid citizen, a very exemplary man in every respect, a most indulgent husband and father and was held in the highest esteem by his neighbors, his church and his friends. Surviving him are his wife and one son, Neville Witt, and two brothers, William and Millard Witt, of Estill county, to whom the warmest sympathy of the community is extended.

Funeral services will be conducted in the First Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Dr. Homer W. Carpenter, burial in Richmond cemetery.

Fire To Oust Snake Brings Complications

Augusta, Ky., July 15—A six-foot black snake refused to budge from his den under an old stump here's the result, chronologically arranged:

W. H. Winter, farmer, near Augusta, decided to smoke out the reptile.

The fire spread from the stump to a 20 acre hay field. The field was dry. The flames spread in every direction.

Appeals were sent to the Augusta fire department. Farmers for miles around hurried to the scene and, with the aid of a timely shower of rain, managed to save the buildings. Meanwhile the snake escaped.

TELLS OF FISHING TRIP AT PANAMA

Major R. E. Turley, Jr., Whites Interesting Letter of Fine Sport In the Pacific

Major Robert E. Turley, Jr., an old Richmond boy, wrote a very interesting letter about a big fishing trip down in Panama to his father-in-law, J. W. Elmore, at Lancaster. The Record there got it and published it. What he says will be read with much interest too, here at his old home by his many friends. It was as follows: Mr. J. W. Elmore, Lancaster, Ky.

Dear Sir:— If you will get the old family atlas down from the shelf, blow the dust from its cover, and turn to where Central America runs into the southern continent, you will find the Bay of Panama, bounded on the north by the Isthmus of Panama, on the east by the Colombian coast, extending into the Pacific ocean on the south and on the west by Punta Mala (as the Spanish explorers named it in 1519). At longitude 78 west and latitude north nearly nine is a most picturesque archipelago containing the Pearl Islands, undisputedly the most famous fishing grounds in the world, also famous for their pearl fishing beds. There are hundreds of islands in this group, ranging in size from a small but rugged rock to long stretches covered by impenetrable jungles of tropical plants. The first island reached from the Pacific entrance of the Panama Canal is Pacheca about 34 miles out to sea, and the last is a lonesome rock, Galera, about 70 miles off the Coast of Panama.

It so happens that one Mr. Robertson, general manager of the International Banking Corporation, in Panama, has done many favors in business matters, such as selling a large stock of pearls and Panamanian bonds for a firm of shippers and traders, Pinel Brothers in Panama City, and in order to show Mr. Robertson their appreciation they offered Mr. Robertson the use of one of their ships, a sea going schooner, for a three days cruise and fishing trip around Pearl Islands. Mr. Robertson called together a jolly bunch of fishermen, and on Friday night, May 27th, 1921, we set sail from Panama Harbor about 8 p. m. The party consisted of Messrs. Robertson; Martin, general manager of the Panama Shipping Agencies; Schaffer, general manager of American Foreign Banking Corporation; Morrell, auditor for the Panama Canal; McGinnis, owner of the Balboa Brewery; Hammer, canal quartermaster; Conner, chief of the Ancon hospital; Lear, general foreman of the Panama Railroad Company; Capt. Hunt, commanding officer of the U. S. battleship, Tacoma; and Col. Crain, Col. Brown, and myself of the army. As Dr. Conner, a huge Texan of some 240 pounds, climbed over the rail of the schooner to come on board, his foothold slipped and he fell with a splash into the water and was rescued with some difficulty. But his good spirits were restored by some dry clothes and a sample of liquid refreshments from Mr. McGinnis' brewery. We accused the Doctor of knowing the contents of McGinnis' baggage and falling overboard on purpose in order to sample it.

When the roll was called and an even dozen answered to their names, we searched about for a suitable name for the crowd and finally hit upon the name, Perlas Double Sextet, perlas being the Spanish for pearl. As we rounded San Jose Rock with three motor boats in tow, the towline parted and the boats were adrift. Captain Hunt had brought two of the motor boats from the Tacoma and Mr. Martin brought the third. There were two sailors on each of the navy boats, and two negroes on Martin's boat, so fearing that they would founder in the rough sea, all hands set to work to round up the drifting boats by throwing them a line as we circled around in the dark and finally had them tied to the schooner with a stronger towline.

When we were under way again some inquisitive member of the party discovered that all of the provisions had not been loaded on

A REAL BOOSTER FOR THE DIXIE

Rev. Ira Boswell, pastor of a Christian church at Georgetown, made an eloquent plea for interest in the Dixie Highway completion at the courthouse Friday morning.

He told a good crowd that there are 3,000,000 automobiles in the north that want to travel and the only thing that keeps them from coming this way is the bad roads. He said that out in Missoula, Montana, the garages and stores kept account and last year 18,000 auto tourists passed thru the town and it was figured that $100,000 of outside money was spent there—and simply because a good highway goes through it, and the people helped boost it along.

Mr. Boswell was accompanied here by Rev. Orland Beck, well known here, who is the Methodist pastor at Georgetown, and both are intensely interested in seeing Kentucky improve her roads and especially the Dixie Highway through this section.

WHAT CAUSES THE FARMER'S DOWNFALL
(Contributed)

What has become of the farmer? is a question that worries him now. The farmer feeds the world. He is the backbone, muscle, tissue, blood and brains and it seems he is too independent to own it, or too contrary, and I hardly know which. The farmer stands now just where I thought he would drift for a number of years—give way and let other people run his business and when you do that kind of business you need not expect anything else but have the bills to pay. Today the farmer isn't making his salt from his toil and labor and sweat. Hogs don't pay for their raising; cattle don't pay a decent grazing bill; sheep bad enough and the wool from a hundred head wouldn't buy enough socks for a family of six for 12 months. Grain! Yes grain. After paying the expenses wheat won't bring 40 cents a bushel and flour $10.50 per barrel. Who is to blame?

Corn! talk now. It will be worth $1 per bushel this fall. Potato crop a failure; gardens drying up and meal's 50 cents. Whisky $8 a quart and bootleggers more plentiful than fiddlers in Helena, Montana, and not an officer in sight, unless it be a poor pitiful little bandy-shanked crooked-kneed farmer and then they pull him for all they can, and tell an officer to keep watch for a fellow, he goes and tells the fellow what you said and to keep cool.

Yes there is the farmers' tax. Is it high? I don't see how some are to pay it. Too many blockheads drawing salaries. Where are Mr. Morrow's curtailments? He has created more than he has dumped into the river. Politix.

Back to the farmer. How will he ever get even with the world? He won't organize. He will not stand hitched—never has since he came out of the Garden of Eden, and never will until you put him back.

Sapiro organization, tobacco pool? Yes you may get him in and then along comes something like Jack Dempsey and knocks him over the ropes. The best organization the world has ever

Loss Of Appetite

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before the second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation, as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.

MAJOR TURLEY'S LETTER

board, so we had to stop again and drop anchor. A council of war was held and it was decided to send two of the party to Balboa in one of the motor boats for the provisions. It was no easy task to go over the side of the schooner and slide down a rope into the motorboat while the sea was rolling in and tossing the ship about as if it were a chip in the water, but Hunt and Hamner finally accomplished the feat and their little boat disappeared into the black night. We tossed about as we waited for the return of the motor boat and proceeded to get seasick. Robertson declared that if we didn't stop feeding the fish that the fishing would be spoiled the next morning as the fish would not be at all hungry.

The motorboat returned about midnight. We wrapped up in blankets on the schooner's deck and slept soundly until dawn when we awoke and looked out over Pedro Gonzales. We did justice to the breakfast after a night in the salt air, and pulling the motor boats along side the party split up into fours and started fishing. One party with Robertson went around the east side of Pedro Gonzales, Hunt and his party went down the west side of the island and around the east of San Jose Island, while my boat started around the west side of San Jose. The schooner went on after arrangements had been made to meet her at a cove on the south side of San Jose that night.

We fished by trolling from the motor boat using a heavy line and rod and reel. The bait was a silver spoon made especially for sea fishing, the spoon being set out on the end of the line about a hundred yards from the boat. In spite of Robertson's prediction, the big fish were hungry, and we hooked some beauties and landed them after a hard fight. A 50 pound game fish out on the end of 200 yards of line handled with a rod and reel is by no means an easy proposition, and we pulled at the big fellows until our arms and backs ached from the strain. About three of these big fish is about all a man wants to tackle in one morning, so we quit fishing and went in search of the schooner to get dinner. Robertson's boat came in and they had some big fish, even larger than ours. When Hunt's boat failed to show up, we got uneasy and a searching party was sent out to find them. Sure enough their engine was broken down and they were found sitting calmly in the boat and drifting toward China. They said that they knew if they drifted long enough that they would either be picked up or land on some cannibal island and would be eaten up so they had nothing to worry about.

The schooner anchored in a sheltered cove where we spent the night. The next morning at daylight, we were out fishing around the rocks to the south of San Jose. The fishing was fast for a while, but some big sharks came along and put an end to the fun. Schaffer had no sooner landed a 60 pound jack when he hooked another even larger. He had played with the fish for a half hour and had him up to the boat when along came a big shark in plain view and bit off the fish's body leaving only the head. In one of the photographs which is enclosed you can see this big fish which the shark bit off and swallowed about 50 pounds of fish in one mouthful. After this experience, we knew that there would be no sport in feeding the hungry sharks with big fish, so we pulled out and went to Galera and fished all afternoon, but had practically no luck, catching only two or three jacks. During the night we cruised to Ray Island and fished there the next morning for a while, then started off toward home, fishing around the small islands when we came to them. In the last island, Pacheca, we had an hour's good fishing, landing 27 beauties in short time. At sundown we quit fishing, tied the motor boats to the towline, and put on full speed ahead for Panama, landing home at 1 a. m. Tuesday morning. For three days and nights we had been cruising around and fishing, not stepping on land during the entire trip. When the final count was taken, the total catch was found to be 144 fish, the smallest weighing 5 pounds and the largest weighing 65 pounds, the total weight of the fish being 2,000 pounds, and the average per fish being about 14 pounds.

You will find five pictures enclosed. The large single fish is a red snapper, weighing 65 pounds. Two other pictures show some of the fish we caught, the fourth picture shows a rock around which we had some good fishing, this rock is called the drunken monkey. The picture showing the small boat, is a pearl fishing outfit near San Jose Island. The fishermen are natives, a mixture of negro and San Blas Indian. These pearl fishermen are quite interesting. They fish for days at a time without finding a single pearl, and then they will sometimes find several in one day. Of course it is not often that they get a pearl that is very valuable, but I heard of one fisherman who sold two pearls for $5,000. When they make a big haul like this, they stop working until their money is spent. It is a dangerous way of living. The pearl diver will go to the bottom in 30 feet of water without a diver's suit and search the bottom for two minutes without coming up. Sometimes a big shark or other deep sea monster comes along and gets fisherman, pearls and all. In water deeper than 40 feet the pearl divers use a regular diving suit, with a pump to pump air down to him. It is a hard life and the fishermen do not live long, especially those who try to stay under the water without a diving suit.

Some of the old fishermen in the party who have been here for several years, declare that they had never seen so many different kinds of fish as were caught on this trip. We had a variety assortment of fish, consisting of papagaya, mackerel, red snapper, groupers, jacks, amber jacks, rock jacks, rockhinds, bonitas, tunas, and corbinas, and several species which we could not name. This was the biggest fishing time I have ever had, and now that I have the purpose.

RED HOT RACE FOR JUDGE IN LINCOLN

News comes from Lincoln county that the "hottest" race in the democratic primary there is the County Judge's race. It is a three-cornered race, one of the candidates being Rowan Saufley, well known here, and who made a statewide reputation as a fearless officer when he served as deputy internal revenue collector, and had a hand in bringing to justice some of the most notorious and dangerous moonshiners and bootleggers that Kentucky ever saw. It is understood that the voters of Lincoln who want the law enforced without fear or favor, and especially the good women, are rallying to his support by the hundreds.

Speaking of Saufley the other day, U. S. Commissioner Wm. Lawwill, of Danville, before whom most of the liquor law violators were tried in that section, said:

"I notice in the papers that there is a red hot race for the democratic nomination for County Judge over in Lincoln county. My old friend, Rowan Saufley, is in the race; when he served as Deputy Collector and later as Prohibition enforcement officer I had occasion to see the quality of his work. He showed extraordinary intelligence and splendid devotion to duty in everything connected with his services to the government and I feel that the government lost a very valuable man when he resigned from the service. If the people of Lincoln county elect him to the office of County Judge, they will have an official who will go the limit in the performance of duty."

Miss Ethel Shifflett spent the week-end with home folks. Miss Shifflett will teach at the Burton school this year on Poosey Ridge pike.

Mr. John L. Burgess died at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. M. Carnes, near Whitlock, Tuesday night, July 5. He was 39 years of age. He had been in declining health for some time. Burial was in the Richmond cemetery.

Mrs. Raymond Sowers passed away at her home near this place Wednesday evening. She had been sick about three weeks. She was 21 years of age and leaves her husband and relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Cowsucker Chicken-Eater

The other night something disturbed the chickens in the hen-house on the farm of H. B. Bonta near Mt. Zion, Washington county, the commotion being so great among the small chickens that Mr. Bonta immediately went to the scene with a lantern, thinking rats had probably made a raid on the chicken coop. Soon after arriving at the door of the house, Mr. Bonta saw something move along the side of the building, and upon investigation found a huge cowsucker snake calmly wallowing a chicken. An axe served the purpose and soon his shakship was minus a head, and several inches of his body. The following morning the snake was measured and was found to be five feet four inches long, several inches around, and inside was found the chicken stolen the night before, which was almost as large as a partridge.

DOES BEST WORK IN FIFTEEN YEARS

Newport Man Says It's Simply Amazing the Way He Has Been Built Up

"Tanlac has done for me what everything else I have tried failed to do," said Frank Rhodes, 207 York street, Newport, Ky., a valued worker for the Andrews Rolling Co., Newport.

"I only ate enough to keep me going, and even then I would be in misery for hours with indigestion. I had awful dizzy spells at times, too, and once fell and struck my head on a piece of iron and was laid up in bed for two weeks afterwards. When I did manage to get back on the job I was all in and couldn't half do my work. My back felt like it was in irons and I couldn't bend over and straighten up again without suffering agony."

"This was the fix I was in when I started on Tanlac, and I can say for the medicine it has just about made a new man out of me. My appetite is so big now I eat three hearty meals a day and even take a snack between meals. I am never bothered with dizziness and my back is all right again. My digestion is just A No. 1, and I sleep like a log every night. It certainly is amazing the way I have improved in work, too. My boss tells me that I am doing more work that at any time since I came to the mill fifteen years ago, and I certainly ought to for I never felt better in my life. I advise people who suffer like I did to get Tanlac at once."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son.

Tokyo to Have Largest Modern Building in Asia

Photograph of an architect's sketch of what will be, when completed, the largest modern building in Asia—The Mitsubishi office building in the business district of Tokyo. An American concern is constructing it. The building, which will cost about $8,000,000, will have a total floor space of three quarters of a million square feet, surrounding a center courtyard. It will be eight stories high.

Big Drop In Land Prices

The Shelby News says this week: Master Commissioner C. F. Beard Monday sold two farms at the courthouse door under judgments of the Shelby Circuit Court, both of which show a large falling off in price compared to two years ago. In the case of John Nave vs. J. W. Thompson, a farm of 115 acres on the Rockbridge pike, known as the Sam Hinkle place, was sold to Mr. Nave at $13 per acre. This is about $9,000 less than the amount of the debt, which was $24,000. Mr. Thompson purchased this farm in the fall of 1919 at $300 per acre. In the case of Bank of Shelbyville vs. Roscoe Truman, farm of 70 acres in the Olive Branch neighborhood, to George W. Gill at $45 per acre, $3,150. The deferred payments on this place amounted to $4,500.

NEW TARIFF HITS
OUR FLOUR MILLS

(By Associated Press)

Regina, Sask., July 15—Wheat prices in the Canadian west will be affected by the new American tariff, except insofar as this interference with free shipment to the United States may be exploited by market manipulators, according to J. B. Musselman, central secretary for the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association. "So long as the United States requires Western Canadian hard wheat for blending with her own winter wheat, it would seem that her own people will have to pay the import duty on it, besides its competitive world value. The United States millers will be under a handicap in competing with Canadian millers when it is considered that imported wheat is used for blending in making flour for export to Europe," Mr. Musselman said.

The Canadian meat industry, however, Mr. Musselman believes, will be hard hit by this new tariff.

"The effect of this tariff on our meat industry is likely to be very much more detrimental to the farmers of this country, especially as Canada has practically no other market for live cattle," he said.

CAN'T DO THE WORK

It's too much to try to work every day against a constant, dull backache, or sudden darting pain in the small of the back. Be rid of it. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Your neighbors recommend them. Ask your neighbors.

Mrs. Lucy Horn, B. and Prather streets, Richmond, says: "I had a good deal of pain in my side and across the small of my back. My back was lame when I got up in the morning and I was so lame through my hips I couldn't do a thing about the house. When I stooped over my back hurt and I would get dizzy and fiery specks came before my eyes. I had heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I got some at the Richmond Drug Co. In a few days the trouble left me. I think Doan's have cured me for I don't have these spells any more."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Horn had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y. jul 1522 99

The eldest of his four children, a boy of 10, found his father dying. The excessive heat, in which Roberts had been working steadily for days, is believed to have affected his mind.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 15—Mingo field miners were getting $20 to $60 weekly in 1920 at the outbreak of the labor trouble. A Union witness told the Senate investigators today. They were dissatisfied because they didn't get all their government grants during the war and because the company stores charged more than independent stores. R. H. Kirkpatrick, former mine foreman, told a circumstantial story of how he and his superiors arranged to go into the hills and shoot back and forth to impress the new miners in the Mingo field and justify a call for troops. Descamps said that a specialist would be consulted in regard to the break in Carpentier's hand, and that, if it mended as quickly as physicians here predicted, he would probably return early in September.
